

ID Theft and Fraud Affidavit

Note | This communication is from Plutus Receivables Management LLC, a debt collector. Information obtained during this communication will be used for the purpose of debt collection.

Instructions for Completing the Identity Theft Affidavit

It will be necessary to provide the information in this affidavit anywhere a new account was opened in your name or an existing account was affected by identity theft. The information will enable the creditor to investigate the fraud and decide the outcome of your claim.

This affidavit has two parts:

Part One — the Identity Theft Affidavit— is where you report general information about yourself and the theft.

Part Two — the Fraudulent Account Statement — is where you describe the fraudulent account(s) opened in your name.

When you send the affidavit to Plutus Receivables Management LLC, attach copies (NOT originals) of any supporting documents (for example, driver's license and police report). Before submitting your affidavit, review the disputed account(s) with family members or friends who may have information about the account(s) or access to them.

Complete this affidavit as soon as possible. Delays on your part could slow the investigation.

Be as accurate and complete as possible. You may choose not to provide some of the information requested. However, incorrect or incomplete information will slow the process of investigating your claim and absolving the debt. Print clearly.

When you have finished completing the affidavit, send a notarized copy to us at:

Email | idtheft@plutusreceivables.com Online | plutusreceivables.com/id-theft/

Attach a copy of the Fraudulent Account Statement and any other supporting documentation you are able to provide. We will review your claim and send us a written response telling you the outcome of their investigation. Keep a copy of everything you submit to us.

If you are unable to complete the affidavit, a legal guardian or someone with power of attorney may complete it for you. Except as noted, the information you provide will be used only by us and the creditor to process your affidavit, investigate the events you report, and help stop further fraud.

Completing this affidavit does not guarantee that the identity thief will be prosecuted or that the debt will be cleared.

Reporting the Fraud

Report to the Credit Bureaus

Any one of the nationwide consumer reporting companies to place a fraud alert on your credit report. Fraud alerts can help prevent an identity thief from opening any more accounts in your name. The company you call is required to contact the other two, which will place an alert on their versions of your report, too.

Experian

Report to your local police department (required for us to consider)

Your local police or the police in the community where the identity theft took place to file a report. Get a copy of the police report or, at the very least, the number of the report. It can help you deal with creditors who need proof of the crime. If the police are reluctant to take your report, ask to file a "Miscellaneous Incidents" report, or try another jurisdiction, like your state police. You also can check with your state Attorney General's office to find out if state law requires the police to take reports for identity theft. Check www.naag.org for a list of state Attorneys General.

Report to the Federal Trade Commission (FTC)

By sharing your identity theft complaint with the FTC, you will provide important information that can help law enforcement officials across the nation track down identity thieves and stop them. The FTC also can refer victims' complaints to other government agencies and companies for further action, as well as investigate companies for violations of laws that the FTC enforces.

You can file a complaint by
